"The following curious fact is extracted from West (p. 87): 'A gentleman, on guard during the black war, watched a small group in the gaol yard round their night fires. One of them raised his hands, and moved them slowly in a horizontal direction; and spreading, as if forming an imaginary fan or quarter circle: he turned his head from side to side, raising one eye to the sky, where an eagle hawk was soaring. The action was accompanied by words, repeated with unusual emotion; at length they all rose up together, and uttered loud cries. The whole action had the appearance of an incantation.'"
